PERSONNEL OFFICE

1. What are the criteria for awarding work opportunities to students on campus?

It is the policy of this office to refer all requests for student employees to the Financial Aids Office. Hence, the criteria for awarding work opportunities to students most probably could be provided by that office.

2. Communications with persons responsible for faculty, administrative and non-academic personnel.
 - a. Ascertain whether or not affirmative action is established as a standing policy.

In April of 1972, the University of Tennessee-Knoxville Campus revised its Affirmative Action Plan and in November of the same year distributed the Plan. The implementation of the plan upon early analysis has met with much success largely due to the full commitment and support of the University's top administrative officials. The plan most definitely has been established as a standing policy of the University and judging from its initial reception by the campus will continue to maintain its priority status. Having first hand knowledge of the impact of the Affirmative Action Plan upon the Knoxville Campus, it is quite apparent that some very crucial changes have taken place in long held sacred employment and promotional practices.

The decentralized structure of the academic community demands the education and involvement of all supervisors to participate in reforming their own practices. It is toward this end that we have placed major emphasis in the beginning stages of the implementation of the long standing policy of Affirmative Action on the Knoxville Campus.
