

9-18-2012

Employers Asking for Social Media Passwords

Bonnie Jones

Municipal Technical Advisory Service, bonnie.jones@tennessee.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://trace.tennessee.edu/utk_mtastop

 Part of the Public Administration Commons

The MTAS publications provided on this website are archival documents intended for informational purposes only and should not be considered as authoritative. The content contained in these publications may be outdated, and the laws referenced therein may have changed or may not be applicable to your city or circumstances.

For current information, please visit the MTAS website at: mtas.tennessee.edu.

Recommended Citation

Jones, Bonnie, "Employers Asking for Social Media Passwords" (2012). MTAS Publications: Hot Topics.
http://trace.tennessee.edu/utk_mtastop/158

This Bulletin is brought to you for free and open access by the Municipal Technical Advisory Service (MTAS) at Trace: Tennessee Research and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in MTAS Publications: Hot Topics by an authorized administrator of Trace: Tennessee Research and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact trace@utk.edu.

September 18, 2012

EMPLOYERS ASKING FOR SOCIAL MEDIA PASSWORDS

Bonnie Jones, Human Resource Consultant

Recently, a number of disturbing national trends surrounding social media and employment applications have surfaced. Most notably, employers have been asking applicants to provide their social networking account information and passwords. Currently, the U.S. Attorney General is looking into the legality of this and federal legislation is expected to follow. Some states, such as Maryland, have already moved to make these practices illegal.

In the meantime, your city should be aware that improper use of social media information on applicants and employees may result in claims alleging discrimination, negligent hiring, violation of privacy, and open record conflicts.

In light of several federal laws including, but not limited to, GINA (Genetic Information Non-Discrimination Act) it is critical that employers not seek out information via social media that is not applicable to the essential functions of the job. In some cases, an employer simply viewing protected information about an applicant can have illegal implications.

If an employer elects to use social media profiles as part of the background check it is recommended the employer get signed consent from the applicant that outlines exactly what information the city is looking for, and how it will be used in the hiring/employment process. In addition, employers should have a designated trained professional, who is not involved in making hiring decisions, review this information, and should only pass on information to the hiring authority if it is essential to the job (i.e., poor communication skills, conflict in resume, etc.). All other non-job-related information that is ascertained should not be shared with hiring authorities and must be redacted. This will help to ensure that personnel decisions are not based upon non-work related or discriminatory information such as disability status, genetic history, ethnicity, age, etc.

Here are a few guidelines that will keep your city out of hot water:

- Employers should never ask for an applicant/employee's social media user name or password.
- Employers should never ask that applicants/employees log into their accounts during the interview process.
- Employers should avoid asking the applicants/employees if they use certain social media sites, unless the question is job related.
- Employers and hiring authority should not "friend" an applicant or an employee unless the accounts are both job related (i.e., city business) and of a non-personal nature.
- Employers should not create social media accounts for the purpose of searching for information that is not intended to be public or that is a violation of the social media site's terms and conditions.

September 18, 2012

EMPLOYERS ASKING FOR SOCIAL MEDIA PASSWORDS

- Employers should never try to bypass or manipulate a user's privacy settings for the purpose of gaining information and access to an applicant/employee's information.
- Employers should not use technology or third-party applications to draw out information from applicants/employees profiles for purposes of gaining access to the individual's information.
- If an employer elects to use social media searches as part of the hiring/employment process a policy stating exactly what information will be searched for and eventually used must be in place.

WHAT IS FAIR GAME?

- Employers may have a policy that restricts access to social media sites while on the job.
- Employers may have a policy that allows them to use public social media profiles in their applicant screening.
- Employers may follow their own policies and make employment decisions based on job-related discoveries on public social media sites.
- Employers have the right to prohibit use of city logos, uniforms, photos, etc. from employees' personal social media sites.
- Employers have the right to investigate claims of harassment or misuse of city property via social media.
- Employers have the right to prohibit behavior that is harmful to the city or its employees, and may interfere with the city's operation, the employee's job, or department's function.

OTHER CONCERNS

Workplace harassment can take place on or off the clock, and happens frequently via social media avenues. Employees should be aware that potentially harassing activity (on or off the clock) may be subject to open records laws and court subpoenas.

FIRST AMENDMENT RIGHTS

Employers may not infringe on employees' or applicants' First Amendment rights. Employees have the right to express personal opinions on their personal social media pages when off the clock, even if the employer doesn't agree with them. It is important to note that not all personal views on social media are protected from impact on an employee/applicant's job status.

In closing, employer policies should not be overly broad in that they prohibit activity allowed by federal laws such as the discussion of working conditions, wages, and other concerted activity.

While the laws are still being deliberated on, most legal and human resource professionals agree, spying on applicants and employees sends a poor message that violating applicants'/employees' privacy is an acceptable business practice.

For a copy of MTAS's comprehensive publication and sample policy on social media and employment law, visit http://www.mtas.tennessee.edu/KnowledgeBase.nsf/0/1804633885bbb0688525781d00489cc5/\$FILE/Social%20Media%20bw.pdf.

September 18, 2012
EMPLOYERS ASKING FOR SOCIAL MEDIA PASSWORDS

MUNICIPAL TECHNICAL ADVISORY SERVICE

Knoxville (Headquarters) . . . (865) 974-0411	Martin (731) 881-7057
Jackson (731) 423-371	(731) 881-7058
Johnson City (423) 854-9882	Nashville (615) 532-6827

The Municipal Technical Advisory Service (MTAS) is a statewide agency of the University of Tennessee Institute for Public Service. MTAS operates in cooperation with the Tennessee Municipal League to provide technical assistance services to officials of Tennessee's incorporated municipalities. Assistance is offered in areas such as accounting, administration, finance, public works, ordinance codification, and water and wastewater management.

MTAS Hot Topics are information briefs that provide a timely review of current issues of interest to Tennessee municipal officials. Hot Topics are free to Tennessee local, state, and federal government officials and are available to others for $2 each. Photocopying of this publication in small quantities for educational purposes is encouraged. For permission to copy and distribute large quantities, please contact the MTAS Knoxville office at (865) 974-0411.

www.mtas.tennessee.edu