Dr. Robert C. Anderson is a smiling man with short, light-colored hair, wearing a dark suit, white shirt, and a patterned tie. He is positioned in the upper left corner of the page.

Lee Riedinger, professor of physics, has been a faculty member since 1971. He is the founding director of the Bredesen Center for Interdisciplinary Research and Graduate Education, a premier doctoral program created in partnership with Oak Ridge National Laboratory. The center is thriving, with thirty-two graduate students currently enrolled. Riedinger has been department head is named for the long-time head of the botany department who also served as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Hesler's students, colleagues, and friends established this memorial award to recognize outstanding teaching and service to the university.

The L. R. Hesler Award is bestowed to faculty with outstanding teaching abilities and service to the university community.
