“Shadow Day: A Day in the Life of a Tennessee Volunteer”

ABSTRACT:

Students native to the Knoxville area are exposed to the University of Tennessee from a very young age, and often time overlook it as a serious option after high school. The purpose of Shadow Day is to give local high school students a chance to examine and explore the university more intimately. In April 2004, 27 students from three Knoxville-area high schools visited UT's campus to spend the day with a member of Student Alumni Associates (SAA). Shadow students and their SAA hosts visited classes, ate lunch on campus and attended a browse session of extracurricular opportunities. Evaluation of the event was very positive from both the shadow and host point of view. SAA plans to continue the event in the future. Preparation for Shadow Day began in November 2003, and the project required extensive communication with the UT Undergraduate Admissions Office, Carter, Maryville and Oak Ridge High Schools, SAA members and the SAA Future Relations Committee.

Background

The Student Alumni Associates (SAA) is a student organization at the University of Tennessee. The motto of the organization is "Student serving students: past, present and future." SAA sponsors many events throughout the school year, including scholarship banquets, Homecoming Barbeque and the Big Orange Birthday Bash. Each year, SAA members travel to a district conference to network with other organizations from universities across the southeast. In February 2003, the conference was held at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia.

I was a delegate at this conference, and while I was there I attended a session presented by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill called "Shadow Day." This program involved the recruitment of in-state students from across the state of North Carolina to attend UNC. I was very interested in the program, and later met with our SAA advisor, Mary Holtman, to discuss hosting our own Shadow day at UT. At the time, SAA did not sponsor any programs that were geared toward prospective students. Mary was very open to the idea, and we agreed to re-visit the idea the following school year. In addition, an new executive position called Future Relations was established, and I held the position from then until November 2004.

Goal

Show students from the Knoxville area that the University of Tennessee is not a fallback college, and that the academic and social opportunities available from UT are comparable to that of other universities across the southeast.

Objective

Give high school juniors an inside look at the University of Tennessee through an all-day visit program spent with a current UT student.

Research

The purpose of Shadow Day is to give prospective student a more intimate look at the university. Campus tours are very informative, but they do not tailor to individual interests or needs of visiting students, and only last for a couple of hours. In addition, students usually visit campuses with their parents. Shadow Day was designed to give students a chance to be independent in their exploration of UT, and feel like they can truly ask the questions they want and have the experience they desire from visiting a college campus.

Over the spring and summer of 2003, I corresponded with UNC students who gave me information on their Shadow Day program, which was extremely helpful in shaping our event at UT. The UNC students were very excited that their program inspired us, and were very willing to help in any way possible.

In November 2003, I met with several members of the Undergraduate Admissions to discuss Shadow Day. Through our discussion, we identified three local high schools to pilot the program: Carter, Maryville and Oak Ridge. There had been a recent decline in the number of applications received from these schools, so they were good candidates for Shadow Day.

After this meeting, a committee within SAA was formed to help with the planning of the event. The committee members were Mary Holtman, English Cranfield, Megan Frederick, Jennifer Gower, Johnathan Luster and Nina Summers. The committee met weekly at the Tyson Alumni House to develop a timeline for the event and specific logistical information.

Planning

In February 2004, Mary Holtman and I traveled to Oak Ridge High school to meet with Jerry Lenn, guidance counselor. In the meeting we pitched our tentative plans for UT Shadow Day, and officially invited Oak Ridge to participate in the inaugural year. Mr. Lenn was very excited about the idea, and agreed to promote the program to junior students. Phone conversations were held with guidance counselors at Carter and Maryville, and each school was given applications with a stamped envelope for student to mail back to the Tyson House. Additionally, a morning announcement was given to each school to be read with the morning announcements to publicize the event.

Within SAA, members were given bi-weekly updates about the progress of the event, and in February, members were asked to volunteer as hosts for the event and help in other ways. The Future Relations committee was also making contact with different departments to participate in the afternoon browse sessions meant to show prospective students extra curricular activities. Through the diversity of SAA members and their involvement around campus, it was very easy to communicate with many different areas of the university. Arrangements were also made with the Parking Services office for student to park free in the University Center garage. Dining Services agreed to provide meal cards for the students to eat on campus, Housing provided show rooms to view in case the SAA host did not live on campus, and the UT Ambassadors agreed to give an official campus tour as part of the itinerary.

Action

Shadow Day was held on Wednesday, April 7, 2004. Twenty-seven high school students attended the event, which lasted from 8:30 am – 3:30 pm. Student arrived on campus and were escorted by SAA members from the garage to the University Center. In the morning, students were given a presentation by Rochelle Nelson from the Undergraduate Admission office.

Next, they met their SAA host, who was paired with them based on academic and social interests. The host was responsible for taking the shadow student to a class, lunch on campus and visiting a residence hall.

In the afternoon, and host brought the shadow student back to the UC for the student activities browse session. UT Ambassadors then led the shadow students on a campus tour to cover the areas they might have missed that morning with their host.

Last, shadows came to the Tyson House where they completed evaluations and received a bag of complimentary gifts.

Evaluation

Of the 27 attending students, all said they had an overall positive experience at Shadow Day, and all said they would recommend it to other students. During the planning session, we are unable to coordinate academic representatives to be present at the browse sessions, and all students said that would have been helpful and heightened their experience. Of the 27 shadow students, 26 said that Shadow Day made them more confident about applying to UT. This was a huge success for SAA.

The remaining student said that while Shadow Day was a good experience, it helped the student realize that UT was not the right fit for her. This was also viewed as a success, due to the high number of first year-students who transfer after their first semester.

SAA members who participated in the event were also solicited for feedback, and the information gathered was all very positive. Shadow Day was well received by the university and administration, and the program continued to 2005.

At the last update from the Undergraduate Admission office, 16 students who participated in Shadow Day have applied and been offered admission to UT. Eight have been wait-listed, and three are not in the database.

Ms. Pettis -

My name is John Michael Pantlik and I am on SAA at UT. I attended the Shadow Day session put on by the OBT members a few weeks ago at the ASAP conference. It was a very informative session...as the Future Relations Officer on our exec, I am trying to implement a similar program here at UT. Chapel Hill's Shadow Day described everything we are looking to do. I was wondering if I could be put in contact with one of your members who could answer questions and give me more information on your program. My contact numbers are below, I would love to talk to someone versus email back and forth.

The session your kids put on was a great inspiration for us, and we are very excited about implementing our own Shadow Day - that is, of course, if you don't mind us borrowing the name :)

Thanks in advance, I look forward to hearing from you soon.

The Order of the Bell Tower of The University of North Carolina

presents:

Shadow Day

Shadow Day is an event sponsored by OBT that hosts high school juniors in a day-long visit to Carolina. In collaboration with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, OBT members are paired with students from target areas of North Carolina that often include rural or under-represented counties in the state. The students have an opportunity to attend classes, visit specific academic departments, eat lunch on campus, and visit a residence hall.

How it Works

- January: Shadow Day co-chairs work together with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions to determine and select a target area of North Carolina.
- Co-chairs contact guidance departments within the target area requesting the names and addresses of potential juniors to attend Shadow Day.
- February: Co-chairs prepare several letters to send to designated students inviting them to attend the event in mid-April.
- Letters are sent out and RSVP forms are returned.
- March: Co-chairs work with Carolina Dining Services to prepare meal vouchers, arrange for student parking with Facilities Planning and shuttles to the Alumni Center, set up information sessions and tours with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, prepare special speakers, and create Shadow Day info packets for the students.
- OBT members sign up for one of two days to host a student and make arrangements with professors for the "shadows" to attend class.
- Shadows are paired by similar major interests of host.
- April: Two days are designated for Shadow Day and the invited juniors visit campus!

The Day

- 8:00 a.m. Juniors arrive on campus and are escorted to the Alumni Center for information packets, breakfast, and to meet their host.
- 8:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Hosts and shadows meet each other, attend classes, take tours, and visit dorm rooms.
- 12:00 p.m. Hosts and shadow enjoy Lunch at Lenior Dining Hall (free!)
- 1:00 p.m. Shadows attend an information session with the Office of Undergraduate Admissions and attend panel discussions by major.
- 3:00 p.m. Formal Tour with Admissions Office.
- 4:00 p.m. Closing session with Shadow Day co-chairs and OBT members.

Audience: Juniors at Oak Ridge High School

	9-11	Class and Dorm Experience
	11-12pm	Lunch
	12-1	Admissions Presentation

Shadow Day is aptly named because of the intimate setting in which prospective students “shadow” a current student to get the feeling of what it is really like on UT’s campus. Without parents or administrators present, Shadows can ask what’s really on their mind and get straight answers. At the same time, SAA members who volunteer their time and knowledge are following the Volunteer Creed that “The one that bears the torch shadows oneself to give light unto others.”

MARYVILLE HS

Dear Logan,

Congratulations! You have been selected to participate in our very first Shadow Day! We have looked over your application and interest sheet, and we think that you would greatly benefit from spending a day on campus to find out more about the University of Tennessee.

Enclosed you will find a schedule of the day's events, as well as a map and other instructions. Also, a member of SAA will be contacting you soon to help answer any questions you or your parents may have.

In the meantime, we are matching you and the other shadows with SAA members who share similar academic and social interests to ensure that you will have a great experience while you are here.

Our entire organization is very excited about this event, and we are looking forward to meeting you on April 7th!

Go Vols!

Shadow Day-SAA Host Info

You and your shadow will be spending the day together for an inside look at the University of Tennessee. Above all else, be professional and positive with your shadow – you could be the deciding factor in whether or not they choose to apply.

What you're supposed to do:

- Go to a class (at least one)
- Lunch in Smokey's
- See a dorm room (if you don't live on-campus, there are show rooms in Morrill and Reese, just ask for the key at the front desk.
- Get to the Crest room no later than 1:30 for the browse session

Remember, they WILL be going on a campus tour with an Ambassador, so don't lie or make stuff up about campus, it makes you look bad and reflects poorly on SAA and UT.

Talk to them! It will probably be overwhelming for most of these kids, so make sure they feel comfortable by asking them questions and making conversation. If you pass a friend, introduce them. Show them our southern hospitality.

If you don't have any classes Wednesday morning, check the timetable for some typical freshman classes they might take and just pop in for a few minutes.

Thanks for showing your Volunteer Spirit!

Shadow Day Schedule

The University of Tennessee – 7 April 2004

8:30–9:00 Arrive on campus/Check-In

Using the enclosed map, locate the University Center parking garage. A member of SAA will be waiting outside to direct you where to park. If possible, carpool with a friend from your high school. Your parents can drop you off, but remember, Shadow Day is just for you! After you park, a member of SAA will escort you to the UC Crest Room where you will meet your SAA host for the day!

9:00–10:00 Admissions Presentation

Rochelle Nelson from the Admission Office will show a video and give a short presentation with information on Tennessee. You will receive a packet that includes a viewbook and application. We will also have door prizes donated from the UT Book Store!

10:00–1:30 Experience Life at Tennessee

You and your SAA host will attend classes, eat lunch on campus, and check out dorm life at Tennessee. Get to know your host, ask questions and enjoy experiencing student life through the eyes of a Tennessee Volunteer.

1:30–2:30 Browse Session

Return to the Crest Room where you will find a room full of SAAs representing academia and student activities available at UT. Pick up some information about SGA, or chat with someone from the Engineering department.

2:30–3:30 Campus Tour

Our UT Ambassador Scholars will lead you on an official campus tour to show you all you might not have seen during the day. The tour will leave from the Crest Room and end at the Tyson Alumni House, where members of SAA take care of your parking and excuse notes and escort you back to your car. We hope you enjoyed Shadow Day! Go Vols!

Prospectives shadow students

Potential freshmen learn about UT from SAA guides

LAURA LACY
Staff Writer

Ten prospective University of Tennessee students had the opportunity to take a closer look at the university on Wednesday.

During the second annual Shadow Day, an event hosted by Student Alumni Associates, students from Oak Ridge, Maryville, Carter and Austin East high schools were paired with members of SAA, according to Jon Papaik, relations chair elect of SAA, who was in charge of planning the event. The high school students then spent the day "shadowing" these UT students around campus.

"Shadow Day is a way for us to fulfill our mission in SAA," Lauren Binkley, president of SAA, said. "Our motto is 'students serving students — past, present, future.'"

"Shadow Day is where SAA relates to the future aspect of our motto," Papaik added.

After viewing a presentation about admissions, deadlines and the whole college experience, the high school students accompanied their SAA members to various 10:10 a.m. lectures, ranging from history of rock to Finance 101, Papaik said.

Lunch at Smokey's followed, and the high school students had a chance to discuss their high school experience as well as university life with members of SAA, Papaik said.

"They were able to have a lot of questions answered by actual UT students," he added.

The students then visited the third floor of the University Center to learn about ways to become involved at UT.

"They were amazed at the different aspects of campus involvement," Papaik said.

A tour provided by UT Ambassadors finished the shadows' day on campus.

"Overall, they gained a real life experience of the day in the life of a college student," he added.

Students were chosen from these schools because they are schools where enrollment to UT is down, Papaik said.

Shadow Day spots were offered to the guidance counselors at these schools for highly involved students with good GPAs. Each student also had to write a typed page about why he or she would like to participate.

Shadow

Any member of SAA was eligible to lead a shadow, he said, as long as they felt comfortable answering questions about the university.

Both Papaik and Binkley said that Shadow Day went well this year and will be continued in the future. "I definitely feel like Shadow Day is a big success for us," Binkley said. "We feel like this gives them [SAA members] the opportunity to serve UT in a different way."

Papaik said he hopes the high school students got a realistic view of UT from Shadow Day.

"I hope they realized the pride that students of this great university share," he said. "And also that they were able to sense the Volunteer spirit that is active on our campus."
