The Bancomext Board of Directors is composed of representatives from the highest levels of the public sector, the banking system and the country's industrial and commercial private sector organizations. It thus works in close coordination with other entities engaged in international trade.

In Mexico, the Bank offers its services to exporters and importers through its headquarters located in Mexico City and Bancomext Centers located throughout the country. Abroad, Bancomext has a network of representative offices worldwide maintained as Trade Commissions of Mexico. The Trade Commissions of Mexico assist businesses seeking Mexican products to import and those seeking foreign investment opportunities such as setting up an industrial facility and subcontract manufacturing and services in Mexico.

Goals

The primary goal in launching this web site is to maintain a One-Stop Mexico Information Center for U.S. companies seeking or actively doing business in and with Mexico. The comprehensive on-line service provides current and authoritative information of key contacts, directories, publications and documents from worldwide sources.
