Student Preparation for Medal of Honor Convention Highlighted

Two recent news stories in Tennessee Today highlighted the preparation Assistant Professor Nick Geidner and his students did in advance of the 2014 Medal of Honor Convention held in Knoxville Sept. 10 – 13. Both stories are linked in the full story. The first story outlines the advance work done by the students and the second story shares the journey of one JEM student as she turned her experiences working on the project into a full time job. Read more.

An Inside Look at the DataONE NSF Project

A recent International Innovation article featured the achievements of the DataONE research project. Excerpts from the article, for which CCI Associate Dean for Research and SIS Professor Suzie Allard (SA), Chancellor's Professor and CCI Board of Visitors Professor Carol Tenopir (CT), and Mike Frame (MF), chief of computational science for US Geological Survey and SIS Adjunct Professor, were interviewed, are in the full story. Creative Giving CCI Board of Visitors member Alisa Harrison (BS/PR '83) found a unique way to give back to CCI based on her own experiences as a student at UT. Harrison grew up in nearby Farragut, Tenn. Although she had enough funding from her parents and through working to pay for the basics, there were college experiences that were out of reach financially for Harrison and her family. As a result, some opportunities were simply not on her radar. Read more
