EDUCATION MATTERS IN TENNESSEE

Fifty-five percent by 2025. That’s Gov. Haslam’s goal for the number of Tennesseans with a degree. It’s a big jump from the current rate of 32 percent. To achieve this goal, we must all work together.

Alongside Tennessee Board of Regents institutions, the University of Tennessee is boosting degrees in our state by attracting, retaining and graduating our students.

More help is needed, however, to maintain momentum of the Complete College Tennessee Act, which rewards institutions for better performance. Education has to be a higher priority in the state. Through improved education at all levels, Tennessee can have a more competitive workforce and stronger future.

At the University of Tennessee, we’re taking a hard look at our business model and at how much students pay in tuition. We’re looking at every possible way we can be efficient, effective and entrepreneurial, whether that means saving on the cost to replace a roof or reorganizing an academic department, as some campuses have already done.

I look forward to 2015 and our drive to make education the best it can be in this state. All Tennesseans, current and future, deserve that opportunity.

All the best,

Joe DiPietro

$155 million
Estimated system-wide budget gap in 2025.¹

$2,349
Average net cost of tuition and mandatory fees for new freshmen at UT Knoxville, UT Chattanooga and UT Martin after subtracting the average amount for scholarships and grants.²

$4.6 billion
Estimated economic impact of UT on the Tennessee economy in FY 2013. UT also created or impacted about 75,000 jobs.

51 percent of students graduate a UT campus with debt. The average UT debt at graduation was $22,100.

Nationally, an average of 71 percent of college graduates carry debt, with an average debt of $29,400 nationwide.³

¹ Based on a 10-year projection of tuition increases of 3 percent, inflation of 3 percent and no increases in state appropriations.

² Based on a $7,320 average scholarship/grant award for UT system (UT Knoxville, UT Martin, UT Chattanooga) for the 79% of undergraduates that receive grants/scholarships.

OUR FACULTY TEACH STUDENTS THROUGH HANDS-ON EXPERIENCES THAT PREPARE GRADUATES FOR CAREERS AND STRENGTHEN TENNESSEE’S WORKFORCE.

Julie Hill, associate professor of percussion at UT Martin, encourages students to form musical groups and create their own instruments. A UT Martin alumna, Hill is a recipient of the school’s most prestigious teaching honor, the Cunningham Outstanding Teacher/Scholar Award.
Rob Heller, professor in the School of Journalism and Electronic Media at UT Knoxville, takes his advanced photojournalism students to LaFollette, Tenn., each year for a special photography project on life in the town. An exhibit at the Tennessee State Museum honors the project’s 20th anniversary.

Rosebelle Peters, a lecturer in nursing at UT Chattanooga, trains students through clinical practice, such as a health fair for the homeless that provided health screenings, flu shots and foot care.
Monica Jablonski, professor of ophthalmology at UT Health Science Center, and assistant professor Shankar Swaminathan and post-doc researcher Mallika Palamoor work with a compound to treat age-related atrophic macular degeneration that is delivered through nanoparticles injected in the eye.
Matthew Mench, Condra Chair of Excellence in mechanical engineering, at UT Knoxville and Thomas Zawodzinski, UT-Oak Ridge National Laboratory Governor’s Chair in electrical energy storage, are developing techniques to improve the performance and efficiency of vanadium flow batteries used to store wind or solar power.

Neal Schrick and Lannett Edwards, professors of animal science in the Institute of Agriculture, help the beef and dairy industries by promoting fertility in cows through their patented Embryo Guard technique, which protects embryos and helps cows carry to term.
Douglas Bodary, County Technical Assistance Service consultant, and colleagues in the Center for Industrial Services help officials in Rutherford and other counties save money with more energy-efficient buildings.
Tim Campbell, UT Extension agent in Dyer County, works with the Commodities for Communities program, which allows farmers to donate some of their harvests to fund agricultural research, outreach and education.

Paul Juarez and Patricia Matthews-Juarez, co-directors of the Research Center on Health Disparities, Equity and the Exposome at UT Health Science Center, focus on improving the health status among the poor and underserved in Memphis and across the state.

At the end of fiscal year 2014, the amount of total funds invested for the benefit of UT stood at roughly $1.1 billion, an increase of $157 million over the previous fiscal year. Every asset class in which the University was invested generated positive returns, as the capital markets continued to benefit from the trends in place over the last few years: abundant liquidity, mild inflation, low default rates, and strong corporate earnings.

Five separate components comprise this capital base. Total endowments account for $806 million, which includes the Consolidated Investment Pool of $791 million, as well as $15 million of separate endowments. Chairs of Excellence are $139 million; the University of Chattanooga Foundation, $103 million; and Life Income Trusts, $50 million. The chart on page 12 shows these fund categories at each fiscal year-end for the past ten years.

The Consolidated Investment Pool (the Pool) is the largest component of invested funds and was established in 1954 to allow for the diversification and efficient investment of any endowment, regardless of size. As of June 30, 2014, the Pool produced a 12-month total return of approximately 17.4 percent, and 6.8 percent for the last 10 years. It distributed $30.7 million in fiscal 2014, an increase of more than $2 million from the previous year.

The funds distributed in any given year equal 4.5 percent of the three-year rolling average of the Pool’s market value at calendar year end (Dec. 31). The long-term goal of the pooled endowment investment program is to provide a sustainable and increasing level of support for University programs, while preserving the real purchasing power of the endowments for the future in perpetuity.

Finally, funds distributed by the Tennessee Chairs of Excellence and the University of Chattanooga Foundation were $3.5 million and $6.4 million, respectively, for the fiscal year. Both of these categories are managed outside the Pool. The Chairs of Excellence are administered by the treasurer of the state of Tennessee for the benefit of all UT campuses. The University of Chattanooga Foundation is managed by its foundation board and supports programs at UT Chattanooga only.
