2013 Public Service Award

ALEX MILLER

Alex Miller, the William B. Stokely Chair in Management and former associate dean of academic programs in the College of Business Administration, has been linking his research to public service for the past two decades. He has built expertise in operations improvement processes through his work with more than fifty corporations, and leveraged that expertise into a partnership with the US Air Force that has brought millions of dollars in research funding and service contracts into the college. An award-winning teacher, an effective administrator, and a volunteer for numerous state and local governments, Miller played an important role in establishing the university's executive MBA program and was instrumental in revitalizing the Center for Executive Education. Miller has applied his knowledge and experience to a number of economic development organizations. He currently serves on the Industrial Development Board of Jefferson County.

The Public Service Award is bestowed to faculty with outstanding service to the public. The Public Service Award is presented by the UT National Alumni Association
