JOHN CUNYUS HODGES 1892 - 1967 Emeritus Professor

Friend and Patron of the University Libraries

Dr. John C. Hodges: A Tribute

With the death of John C. Hodges on July 7, 1967, came to a close a long career devoted to the development of The University of Tennessee and the cause of education throughout the state. Dr. Hodges came to Knoxville in 1921 as Professor of English, and in the next forty-six years devoted himself to teaching and writing, acting as head of the largest single department of the University, inaugurating and guiding a state-wide program designed to improve the teaching of English in Tennessee, and for the past eight years coordinating the program for library development.

Through the several editions of his Harbrace Handbook, which first appeared in 1941 and became the most widely used college text ever printed in this country, he influenced the writing of English in the whole of the United States. By his three books and numerous shorter studies of William Congreve, the Restoration playwright, he was internationally known as a scholarly authority on a major figure. Through his personal contacts as teacher and head of the English Department, he affected directly the future lives of hundreds of our citizens and encouraged and inspired scores to follow in his own footsteps as college professors.

In recent years, especially after his retirement as professor and department head in 1962, Dr. Hodges, at the request of our Director of Libraries, Mr. William H. Jesse, put all of his energies into developing the library. As Coordinator for Library Development, with his characteristic enthusiasm and resourcefulness and without salary, Dr. Hodges found a new full-time position. Believing firmly that the heart of a University is its library, he embarked on a campaign for contributions of books themselves and for money to buy books, for he knew that if his beloved university was to keep up with its neighbors it would have to find resources outside and above state appropriations. Many of you know how successful he has been in persuading others to give, and how he gave so much himself. As his program developed. he saw that if its effects were to be lasting, what the Library must have was a substantial endowment of which only the income would be used to buy books. The campaign for library development has been under way for some time, and it was Dr. Hodges' dearest wish that it develop to meet what he knew to be our urgent needs.

John C. Hodges was a remarkable man by any standard. Many were the students he helped financially, frequently without their knowing it. He was never too busy to listen to the problems of a colleague, and his advice was always useful. The numbers of teachers and students throughout Tennessee and the nation who have been aided by his statewide program and his textbooks can never be really estimated. Whatever his particular project—and it was always connected with the improvement of the human mind or character—he embarked upon it with all his energies, and they were enormous. He was looking far ahead when he plunged into the endowment campaign. Only his own unselfish expenditure of what had to be the limited physical energies of a man in his mid-seventies, kept him, we believe, from completing it. Let us finish the job for him.

THE JOHN C. HODGES LIBRARY ENDOWMENT FUND

The John C. Hodges Library Endowment Fund has been established and a goal of $50,000.00 has been set to perpetuate the memory of one of The University of Tennessee's most distinguished faculty members, and author of the English textbook, The Harbrace Handbook.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR

Dear Friends of the Library:

When the Library Development Program began in the fall of 1959, thanks to the enthusiasm of John Hodges and the sponsorship of the Alumni Association and the Development Council, we set a goal of one million volumes for the libraries of The University of Tennessee. Then our target seemed many, many long years away, but by this time next year, we will have gone beyond it. For that attainment we must thank the University Administration, which understands library needs; the State, which understands that the University must have increased appropriations; and all you generous alumni and friends who understand how very much your university needs your support.

Let me summarize what you have done for us since 1959:

$ 24,021.77 and 8,955 books (First Report, 18 months)
11,303.12 and 4,568 books (Second Report, 12 months)
23,029.12 and 5,081 books (Third Report, 18 months)
38,684.60 and 5,088 books (Fourth Report, 12 months)
54,698.73 and 8,342 books (Fifth Report, 12 months)
88,191.19 and 4,496 books (Sixth Report, 12 months)
113,051.11 and 3,670 books (Seventh Report, 12 months)
$352,979.64 and 40,200 books (Total, seven Reports)

In addition, you have given us forty-eight new endowments, which will supply funds for books for students in the years ahead.

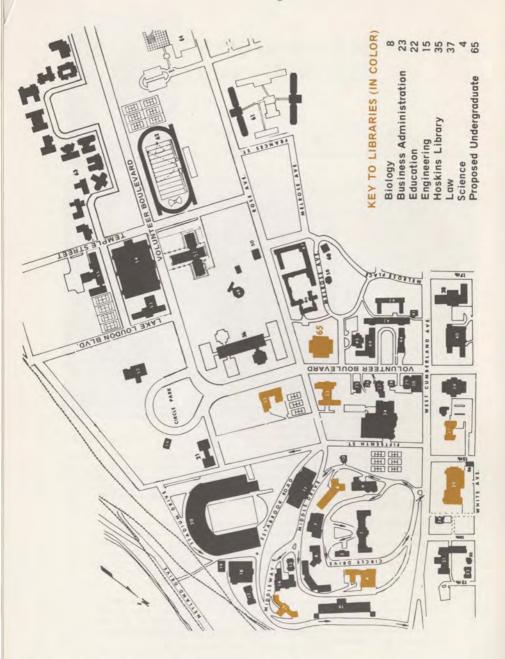

The destination we set eight years ago is in sight. Soon our one-millionth volume will be accessioned and ready for the shelves. That will be an occasion appropriate for celebration, but never for rest or relaxing, because our enrollment has increased 78 per cent and Library use 87 per cent during this past eight years! The new undergraduate library which we hoped would be adequate for six to eight years, when the enrollment might reach 25,000 students, is not yet finished, and this fall we are expecting more than 20,000 students here in Knoxville!

Your continuing support will help us serve these students and help us catch up with our peers in higher education, particularly here in the South, where nine of our neighboring schools have already passed the goal we set for ourselves. The most recent celebration of the one-millionth volume occurred last year, when Vanderbilt reached that enviable state.

William H, Jesse Director of Libraries

Sincerely yours

WHI/ki

Some Outstanding Gifts

DR. SMILEY BLANTON 1882-1966

Several of our previous reports have included the names of the Blantons as donors of books and manuscripts. Their materials, accumulated over a period of several years, are important additions to the University Library.

Smiley and Margaret Gray Blanton, known individually as authors, have been a rich source for manuscripts and research materials. Dr. Blanton's gifts, which reflect his interest in psychiatry and counseling and his connections with the psychiatric clinic of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York City, include autographed copies of the books of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, and his own published works, The Healing Power of Poetry and The Art of Real Happiness.

MARGARET GRAY BLANTON

Mrs. Blanton's interest in history and in her native state of Tennessee gave impetus to her collection of materials on Eliza Johnson, Thomas á Becket, Dick Whittington, and Bernadette. The manuscript of her novel The White Unicorn adds distinction to our Tennessee collection, and the Tennessee material collected for the projected book on Eliza Johnson increases our Tennessee holdings.

Their manuscript material, typescripts, reprints of articles, correspondence, diplomas, citations, and their personal library have added generously to the quality of our undergraduate and graduate collections.

■ OTHER SPECIAL GIFTS ■

The Administration Book of the L.D. Franklin Estate, Jefferson County, Tennessee, 1861-1879 is the gift of Herbert S. Walters. Handwritten, this is a detailed account of the lengthy settlement of a large plantation including the disposition of all properties: lands, slaves, and personal effects.

R.L. Goulding has given a collection of Letters of William Beverly Randolph, a Federal Treasury Agent stationed in Memphis during the years 1863-1866. These letters, written to his wife in Illinois, are of particular interest because of references to the military, political, social, and cultural conditions in the occupied territory of western Tennessee during and immediately following the war years.

May Justus, in response to a plea for other material, has given her Collection of Children's and Folk Literature which includes the manuscripts and copies of each of her published writings, including first and autographed editions, numbering more than fifty titles. Some of the books are gifts of her sister, Miss Helen Justus. In connection with the folk literature, she has included the tapes of folk music collected for Growing Up in the Smokies.

A miscellaneous collection, solicited with the help of D.E. Ray, concerns Ruskin Cave College, Ruskin, Tennessee, and complements our Ruskin Colony materials. These newly acquired pieces include photographs, rosters, correspondence, and mementos relating to the College, dating from about 1911.

To our collection of church records, we have added the following:

- Claiborne County, Tennessee. Davis Creek Baptist Church. Record books, 1797-1821, 1838-1907.
 v. Handwritten. Gift of Lawrence Edwards.
- 2 Roane County, Tennessee. Shiloh Baptist Church. Minutes, 1821-1865. 28 p. Typed transcript. Gift of Mrs. C.P. Kelley.
- 3 Wheat, Tennessee. George Jones Memorial Baptist Church. Record books, 1895-1942. 3 v. Acquired by Dr. Ira Chiles.

Our genealogical collection, always heavily used, now has the papers collected by Eva Turner Clark, the gift of Edward H. Clark. These research notes relate particularly to the Eppes, Gibbons, Chisholm, and Gillington families of Tennessee.

In addition to the above, we have received many fine book collections of varying sizes from many donors. Among them, a run of seventy-four bound volumes of the Architectural Record from Mrs. Allen R. McCowan; a set of the Harvard Classics from Mr. and Mrs. Leland Johnston; Dean Armour T. Granger's private collection from Mrs. Granger; books and manuscripts from David Madden; and miscellaneous collections from Dr. and Mrs. James W. White, Dr. and Mrs. Sam R. Shanlever, Miss Rowena P. Dowlen, Mrs. Edward S. Fabian, N.B. Harwell, Mark A. Klein, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lutz II, Mrs. Robert Lindsay, and many others.

LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

GRADUATE STUDY & RESEARCH ARE KEYS TO TOMORROW

After all manner of professors have done their best for us, the place we are to get knowledge is in books.—The true university of these days is a collection of books.—

-Thomas Carlyle
