Beacon ad honors faculty who have won recognition

University of Tennessee faculty members are an accomplished group who regularly bring national and international recognition to themselves and to the university community.

Last Thursday as part of Faculty Appreciation Week, the Office of Research published its annual "Year of Accomplishment" ad in the Daily Beacon, a list of honors and awards received by faculty in 2011. The list was drawn in part from the recognitions that were printed in this newsletter during the year.

For 2012, we encourage faculty and administrators to share their accomplishments and other good news by sending us brief items that let us track the recognition they receive and share it with the wider university community.

Contact Bill Dockery (dockeryb@utk.edu, 865-974-2187) to submit items for Awards and Recognitions.
