2011 Extraordinary Campus Leadership & Service

Tyrone Beach

Tyrone Beach is a senior in communications from Memphis. A true servant-leader, he supports his fellow students without ever commanding the spotlight. Beach has worked closely with the Office of Student Orientation & Leadership Development, serving fellow students as an Orientation Leader, an Ignite Team Leader, and a Leadership Guide. He is also the WUTK 90.3 hip-hop director, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity historian and reporter, and a resident assistant for the Leadership Learning Community in Morrill Hall.

Will Brewer

Will Brewer, a senior in English and political science from Knoxville, has paired outstanding leadership with an impressive academic and community service record. Brewer has served for three years as an Ignite Team Leader. In that role he has mentored thousands of freshmen, but also training and developing other leaders on the team. He has served the university as a staff writer for The Daily Beacon, a senator and campaign stop chair for SGA, a Campus Presidential Campaign chair, and a member of the University of Tennessee Strategic Planning and Chancellor Selection Committee.

Extraordinary Campus Leadership & Service honors are awarded to graduate and undergraduate students who have demonstrated exceptional leadership and service to the university.

Caitlin Lindstrom

Caitlin Lindstrom is a senior in journalism and electronic media from Tullahoma. Most recently, she served as vice president of recruitment for the Panhellenic Council, where she led the recruitment process by communicating effectively with the many players involved: the recruitment team, advisors, recruitment chairs, campus professionals, and chapter presidents. Lindstrom also has served in leadership roles within All Campus Events, having been director of both Carnicus and Homecoming. Her ability to serve and manage her commitments is even more impressive when you find out that she also works two to three jobs per semester.

Sarah McDonald

Sarah McDonald is a senior in agricultural economics and business from Carthage. A member of Student Alumni Associates since 2009, she has quickly become a leader among her peers, thanks to her diligence and dedication. Last year, she was elected secretary and oversees membership accountability. Members enthusiastically greeted her focus on fairness and balancing the workload. McDonald also is involved in the College of Agricultural and Natural Sciences Resources Ambassadors, Collegiate 4-H, UT Ignite, and Mortar Board. On top of all this, she maintains a 3.91 GPA and regularly tutors elementary school students.

Amie Misaiphon

Amie Misaiphon is a senior in psychology from Smyrna who has served as a role model for countless students through her work as an orientation leader, leadership guide, leadership community resident assistant, ambassador scholar, and as an Ignite team leader. She has shared her commitment to the university with thousands of students, and her impact on those lives is immeasurable. In an evaluation comment, one of her orientation students wrote, "Amie was an inspiration with her genuine love for the school. ... She taught me that Big Orange Country isn't just where I'll go to school, it will be my home."

Andrew Morse

Andrew Morse is a graduate student in College Student Personnel. Since arriving at UT Knoxville two years ago, he has made quite an impact on the university through his instrumental role in opening and managing the LGBT & Ally Resource Center. His nominator for this award calls him "warm, welcoming, non-judgmental, and supportive of every student who walks into the center." His tireless work on behalf of the LGBT community, balanced with his dedication to his academic career, is a perfect example of extraordinary campus leadership and service.

Annie Pace

Annie Pace is a senior in journalism and electronic media who began volunteering with the Volunteer Channel (TVC) as a freshman. After just a few weeks, she developed a concept for a new show highlighting the Greek community at UT—a concept that has become TVC's most popular program. This year, Pace was selected president of TVC, where she is responsible for more than twenty program producers and 150 volunteers. Her leadership and enthusiasm have been invaluable for several other campus organizations, including the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Dance Marathon, the Panhellenic Council, and All Campus Events.
