April 20, 1925.

Dr. R. M. Ogden,
7 Emerson Hall,
Harvard University,
Cambridge, Massachusetts.

My dear Doctor Ogden:

I have your letter of the 17th.

The report that went out through the press with reference to Doctor Sprowls did not in any sense emanate from the University. The recommendation of the Head of his Department that he be not nominated for reappointment next year was not in any way associated with any book or theory, and I am glad to relieve your mind of any worry that might have crept in because of the clipping you received from the Knoxville Sentinel or articles that may have been published in other papers.

With my best wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

HAM/R
