IMPROVING FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY THROUGH BUDGET AMENDMENT CONTROL

by W. K. Joines and Thomas A. Brant

City councils frequently must make difficult choices and decisions, especially when adopting the annual budget. There is seldom enough money available to meet all requests, but choices must be made and the city starts a new fiscal year with a balanced budget.

Tough financial decisions do not end with initial budget approval. Typically, occasions arise during the year when the city council is asked to provide additional funds for unanticipated problems or community needs. On these occasions, the tendency is to consider the need or request solely on its merits, and not within the context of the previously adopted budget. Often the result of these encounters is that the city council obligates the city for a new expenditure, without identifying either a corresponding increase in income, or a reduction in other appropriations. This creates the potential for serious financial problems at the close of the fiscal year.

One way a city council can prepare for this situation is to enact an ordinance requiring that the council approve a resolution identifying additional revenue and/or expenditure reduction, prior to authorizing new expenditures. This approach has the advantage of preventing year-end financial problems, and it requires council to make sound financial decisions on an informed basis, rather than an emotional or political basis. It is a way for a city to significantly improve its financial practices and budget management.

Attached is a sample ordinance that a city may adopt that will assist the city council and individual council members to be more fiscally responsible. The ordinance establishes the requirement that any additional appropriations resulting from a budget amendment must be accompanied by a resolution identifying a corresponding increase in income and/or appropriation reduction.

Also attached is a sample resolution that a city may use to identify a corresponding income source and/or appropriation reduction, on those occasions throughout the year when it does decide to amend the budget.

Please be aware that the steps required to amend the budget generally are the same as those required to adopt a budget. Since most cities do not want to go through the formal readings of several budget amending ordinances throughout the year, the resolutions can be thought of as a formal way to keep up with budget changes throughout the year. Budget resolutions do not amend the budget; this requires a budget amendment ordinance, and the resolutions can be used to compile changes to be included in the amending ordinance. Taken together, the ordinance and resolution can provide effective working tools for a city to make more effective and responsible financial decisions.
