9-1-2021

(Emily 479) and tra/versing the year

Naomi C. Gades
Allegany College of Maryland, ngades@luc.edu

Paul Puccio
Bloomfield College, Paul_Puccio@Bloomfield.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://trace.tennessee.edu/jaepl

Part of the Creative Writing Commons, Curriculum and Instruction Commons, Curriculum and Social Inquiry Commons, Disability and Equity in Education Commons, Educational Methods Commons, Educational Psychology Commons, English Language and Literature Commons, Instructional Media Design Commons, Liberal Studies Commons, Other Education Commons, Special Education and Teaching Commons, and the Teacher Education and Professional Development Commons

Recommended Citation
https://doi.org/10.7290/jaepl26b0sz

Available at: https://trace.tennessee.edu/jaepl/vol26/iss1/13

This article is brought to you freely and openly by Volunteer, Open-access, Library-hosted Journals (VOL Journals), published in partnership with The University of Tennessee (UT) University Libraries. This article has been accepted for inclusion in The Journal of the Assembly for Expanded Perspectives on Learning by an authorized editor. For more information, please visit https://trace.tennessee.edu/jaepl.
Because I could not stop to Cite –
The Teacher did stop me –
She said this would be in my File –
For all Eternity.

She slowly spoke of Consequences
And I’d have given up that day
My sports and my leisure too,
To make It go away –

We learned at School, where Children write
To always name Sources –
But I was in a hurry then –
To pass all those Courses –

But she would not pass me –
And Summer suddenly grew chill –
For only Summer School, my Days – Homework nights – no frills –

—Naomi Gades
tra/versing the year

(words like seeds dropping through seasons of poetry from the leaves of books)

rough winds tousle May buds muscle open in an agony of green

summer is cumin spiced air hovering like bees –
sweet and stinging heat

night
  and leaves falling clouds slide across tree-sliced moon – goldengrove grieving silent icicles dripping slippery from eaves in frozen sunlight

—Paul M. Puccio