Street Law
Mock Trial Competition

Doyle High School won the Sixth Annual Knoxville Area Street Law Mock Trial Competition Wednesday, March 19th, by defeating Fulton High School. A large, enthusiastic audience turned out to watch the two finalists contest a case in the Moot Court Room of the College of Law. Doyle will represent the Knoxville area in state competition April 12th in Nashville. Jeff Keller of Karns was named Best Attorney; Bobby Bluford of Fulton was named Best Witness; and Karns High School was selected as the Most Improved Team. The competition was sponsored locally by the Knoxville Barristers, Public Law Institute, Student Bar Association, and Phi Delta Phi Legal Fraternity. Law students Brook Thompson, who served as the law student director, and Rod Umberger, and Benjamin Pitts, who were assistants, contributed enormously to the event's success. A round of applause also goes to all the student coaches. Hard work paid off; the entire competition was rewarding and exciting for all.
