DID YOU KNOW?

- Ground was broken in September 1994 for construction of a $19 million building that will become the new center for legal education at the University of Tennessee. When completed in 1997, the building will incorporate the newest technological innovations such as computer hookups at each classroom seat and video recording and playback equipment.

(See sketches beginning page 71. During the construction "transition period," College of Law administrative and faculty offices will be located in Dunford Hall and Aconda Court. Career Services will be in Aconda Court.)

- Along with a new physical facility, the UT College of Law is developing several innovative programs in the areas of teaching, research and services. Among these are the Center for Advocacy and Dispute Resolution and the Center for Entrepreneurial Law. These centers will better prepare lawyers for the specific challenges they will face in the 21st Century.

- The UT College of Law is in the midst of a $6 million capital campaign. The new funds will be used to provide scholarships and educational opportunities for students and to attract and retain faculty through professorships, distinguished chairs, and teaching and research support. The UT Law Library will also be expanded and brought on line with the latest in automation and computer support.

(The Law Library will be located in the 1971 White Avenue addition to the old law building during the transition period.)

ALUMNI: Approximately 6,000 in 48 states, the District of Columbia, Australia, Canada, Germany, England, France, Israel, Japan, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, and the United Arab Emirates.

EMPLOYMENT: The employment rate for Tennessee law graduates has surpassed the employment rate for law graduates nationwide for the last five years.*

According to information collected annually for the National Association for Law Placement (NALP), 91 percent of UT’s class of 1994 had found employment within nine months of graduation, compared to 85 percent of law graduates nationwide.

Approximately 86 percent of the employed graduates accepted full-time legal positions. Four percent accepted part-time legal employment, and 10 percent reported non-legal full-time jobs. National statistics indicate that 82 percent of employed law graduates in the class of 1994 found full-time legal positions, six percent part-time legal, 10 percent full-time non-legal, and two percent part-time non-legal positions.

Fifty-five percent of UT’s class of 1994 entered private practice, which equals the percentage of graduates entering private practice nationwide. Federal, state and local government agencies were the second largest employer of the class of 1994, hiring 30 percent of UT’s graduates and 25 percent nationwide.

Eighty-two percent of UT’s employed graduates remained in Tennessee in 1994, compared to a 78 percent average for the classes of 1989-93.

Twenty-eight percent were employed in Knoxville, 16 percent in Nashville, 13 percent in Chattanooga, two percent in Memphis, and 23 percent in other Tennessee towns. Eighteen percent were employed outside Tennessee.

Employment statistics obtained from postgraduate surveys for the classes of 1989-92, and for the classes of 1993 and 1994 follow:

* The National Association for Law Placement (NALP) has conducted its annual Employment Report and Salary Survey for two decades. National statistics were obtained from NALP’s “Initial Class of 1994 ERSS Findings,” May 1995, and are based on survey responses from August and December 1993 and May 1994 graduates.

 Initial reports to U.S. News and to NALP indicated 89 percent employed, as two graduates were incorrectly identified as unemployed.
CAREER SERVICES*

Employers are invited to initiate any service by phone, FAX, or letter.

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWING

Fall Semester 1995 - September 22 through November 21

Spring Semester 1996 - February 5 through April 26

Reservations are accepted year-round by phone, FAX, or letter. On-campus dates, which are assigned on a first-come, first-served basis, are confirmed in writing. Reservations for preferred fall on-campus dates should be made by early Spring. Resumes are forwarded to employers a week to 10 days prior to the on-campus date for prescreening.

RECRUITING FROM EMPLOYER LOCATION

Employers unable to visit campus may request Career Services personnel to collect and forward resumes by a certain date. Or, if the employer prefers, applicants will be instructed to submit resumes and other requested items directly. Employers may wish to contact students individually, or have the Career Services staff convey messages regarding arrangements for interviews at their location.

* Career Services interview rooms are available to employers for interviewing College of Law students and graduates throughout the year.

THE CAREER SERVICES STAFF

LATERAL HIRING
Job Briefs, the alumni employment opportunities newsletter, reaches recent graduates and experienced alumni interested in making lateral moves. There is no charge for employer listings, which are accepted by phone, FAX, or mail and should provide a brief description of the position and the preferred application procedure. Listings are either “open,” identifying the employer and providing information for applicant direct contact, or “blind,” with the employer unidentified and applicants instructed to respond to a position number through Career Services. Each job vacancy is published in two newsletter editions unless the employer instructs otherwise. Listings received by the last day of the month are included in the edition mailed the next week.

STUDENT TEMPORARY ASSIGNMENT TEAM (STAT)
Career Services maintains a roster of students interested in receiving temporary clerking assignments. Referral of a student to a requesting legal employer, made on the basis of availability and familiarity with the subject, usually is made within 24 hours of a telephone request. Assignments range from a few hours to several weeks.

OFF-CAMPUS RECRUITING CONFERENCES

CAREER SERVICES POLICIES
The University of Tennessee College of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and subscribes to its policy of providing students and graduates with equal opportunity to obtain employment without discrimination or segregation on the grounds of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, handicap or disability, veteran status, or sexual orientation. Career Services programs are open only to those employers whose practices are in agreement with this policy. Career Services also subscribes to the National Association for Law Placement Principles and Standards for Law Placement and Recruitment Activities. Copies are available upon request.

GRADING SYSTEM
All academic work in the College is graded on a 4.0 scale by a faculty very demanding in its evaluation of student work. Students may request and receive their class rank from the Student Records Office several weeks after each semester ends, but this information is not available to the Career Services staff unless the student has a signed release on file. Employers who seek this information are encouraged to request class rank figures or a transcript directly from individual candidates.

Grades and class rankings should not be overemphasized. As little as a tenth of a point difference in grade point averages, which are calculated in hundredths, could cause a large percentile difference in class rank not comparable to a difference in performance or ability.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE COLLEGE OF LAW
The new law center at the University of Tennessee—a melding of the old with the new—will be an exceptional setting for legal education in the 21st Century.

An 80,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art building is being constructed adjacent to the original George C. Taylor Law Center, and the two structures will be connected through a hallway that opens from the west end of the old building into a three-story rotunda that will be the signature area of the new facility.

Along with the new construction, the inside of the 1950 building will be completely redesigned and renovated. The old Law College building will be separated from the 1971 White Avenue addition. The two-story "bridge" which connects the two buildings will be removed, leaving each building free-standing. When all of the construction is completed, the College of Law will relinquish the White Avenue structure, which will be converted by the University for use by others.

The new law center will provide 110,000 net square feet of well-designed, modern space for use by students, faculty, staff, members of the University community, the bench and bar, and others. The new construction is adding to the 30,000 square feet that is available in the 1950 building.

The new construction will house the Law Library and a mix of 11 new classrooms, courtrooms, and seminar rooms. The old building will contain the administrative and faculty offices, the Legal Clinic, offices for student organizations, and a Commons area for casual use by students, faculty, staff and visitors. The entire complex, old and new, will be accessible and welcoming to users with disabilities.

The main entrance to the new law center will face Cumberland Avenue. Visitors entering on this level pass into the marbled first floor of the new main rotunda, which rises three stories. Once inside, the main entrance to the Law Library is to the left. Straight ahead is a gallery the length of the building that leads to the three classrooms on the main floor. To the right are the Admissions and Student Records Offices, student lockers, the Commons, and offices for student organizations.

The new building is also accessible from the north off White Avenue through doors on the second floor that lead to a smaller, two-story rotunda and into the gallery of the second level. The northern end of the second floor has three classrooms/courtrooms.

The third floor includes three smaller classrooms, a courtroom, and offices of The Tennessee Law Review. The fourth floor is occupied solely by the library and includes a rare books/conference room on the south end of the building overlooking Cumberland Avenue.

Most of the lower floor of the new building is occupied by the library. A computer laboratory, computer training area, and duplication/copy center are located in that area. One small classroom/seminar room is available on the ground floor.

What previously was the main lobby of the 1950 building will be redesigned to provide for a spacious Commons area, which will include light meal service for breakfast and lunch. The old Cumberland Avenue entrance, once the main entrance to the College, will open from the Commons to a courtyard for use by students, faculty, staff and visitors when the weather permits. Surrounding the Commons will be the offices of Student Records, Admissions and Financial Aid, offices for student organizations, a student lounge, and a locker area for students.

In the lower floor of the 1950 building, the Legal Clinic will return to its original home. The second floor will include offices for the Dean, Career Services, Development and Alumni Affairs, and Public Affairs. The hallway linking these offices will overlook the Commons. Most faculty offices will be on the third floor of the 1950 building.

The melding of the old and the new fully meet the standards set by the Building Committee in 1989-90 when Committee Chair Patrick Hardin and his colleagues began addressing the College’s physical needs for the future.

The new Law College building will be a truly wonderful facility,” Hardin said. “When we move into it in December 1996, we will enjoy one of the finest law school facilities in the country.”
THE CLASSROOMS

The growth and change in the Law College program in recent years created a critical need for modern, well-designed, teaching spaces. The new building contains six tiered classrooms with acoustics and sight lines for law class discussion and dialogue, plus nine flat-floor seminar, simulation, and conference rooms. Most of the classrooms are clustered on three levels near the White Avenue entrance to the Gallery. The Gallery, open to the roof and washed with natural light from above, is the central circulation spine of the facility.

The largest classroom seats 120, with ample room to spread out law books and a computer. On special occasions, added chairs will boost the seating to 180. The five other large classrooms range in capacity from 55 to 85. Six seminar and simulation rooms are designed for those uses. Three other conference and multi-use rooms will also serve those purposes when needed. Two rooms near the courtrooms, for example, will serve as judges’ chambers and jury room, or as seminar rooms.

Each classroom/courtroom will have an electrical source and computer hookup at every seat and the latest in video recording and playback technology. The computer hookups will allow students to tap into all the resources available through the computer labs in the Library.
THE COURTROOMS

Three of the classrooms have been designed for use as courtrooms. The largest, an appellate courtroom, will have the customary appellate court well, with bench for five, surrounded on three sides by seating at tables. The large trial courtroom will seat 50-plus students when used as a classroom. Both courtrooms will be panelled, finished, and appointed in suitably formal style. A third trial and hearing room will also supply a venue for small hearings and for trial practice instruction. A fourth small room will include a raised dias for trial simulations. These will supply four rooms designated and fitted for the teaching of trial practice and oral advocacy.
THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library, with more than 57,000 square feet of usable space on five floors, provides a superior research facility for students, faculty, staff, and members of the bench and bar. In addition, the library contains a Rare Book Room and two computer labs for use by students.

Shelf space is available for 400,000 volumes, and the library will have state-of-the-art electronic data storage and retrieval systems. Twenty-seven study rooms, 172 study carrels, and 108 study tables are spaced throughout the library. The main computer lab has seating for 62 students, and another room is available for computer training. A large video viewing room is accessible on the main floor. The library also has an audio-visual control room, from which video tapes and other information can be transmitted throughout the entire law center.

A major focus of the new library is utilization of state-of-the-art technology in the acquisition and transmission of legal information. The Law Library will offer computer links between the College of Law and the UT campuses, the community, and the bench and bar. All study spaces in the library will have connections for laptop or notebook computers. On-campus and off-campus users with either a modem or network connection can access the library’s electronic resources. All users will have access to the Law Library’s online catalog and other legal and non-legal resources such as the Internet and the World Wide Web.
STUDENT LIFE

The study of law demands hard work and long hours. The new facility is designed to support and assist students in those labors—in the classrooms, library, and in their casual and co-curricular activities. The main floor of the original building will be a Commons area that will include casual seating, a small food and beverage facility, and an outdoor courtyard fronting Cumberland Avenue. Nearby, there will be student lockers, the student mail and message center, and office space for the Student Bar Association, the Moot Court Board, and other student organizations. These facilities will be accessible to law students at all hours when the Law Library is open.
THE LEGAL CLINIC

The renovation of the original law building will provide a new home for UT's Clinical Programs. The ground floor of the 1950 building will function as a large professional law firm with student attorneys gaining valuable hands-on experience representing clients in a variety of settings. The Legal Clinic will include faculty offices and numerous conference rooms for students to interview clients. Each conference room will have video recording equipment so that students and faculty can observe and critique students' work. The area will also include 10 student offices with a computer in each room. The Legal Clinic will be named for Charles Henderson Miller, Professor Emeritus of the UT College of Law, who founded the clinic in 1947 and served as its director until 1975.
DIRECTIONS TO THE COLLEGE OF LAW

FROM INTERSTATE 40, EAST OR WEST

PARKING FOR ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWING OR VISITS

We recommend parking in the University Center Garage, as Aconda Court and the University Center share the same block. To find the garage, proceed on Cumberland Avenue one block past Aconda Court and the University Center, turning right onto Stadium Drive. The garage is just behind the University Center, on the right. You may walk through the University Center, exiting at the front, and follow the sidewalk to the left to reach Aconda Court.

DIRECTIONS TO CAREER SERVICES

During the renovation and construction of the new College of Law facility on Cumberland Avenue, the Career Services office will be relocated in the Aconda Court building, across the street from the law school site. Aconda Court is situated at the corner of Cumberland Street and Volunteer Boulevard.

To find Career Services, enter Aconda Court from Volunteer Boulevard. Walk down the hallway to the “Tower 1” sign, and take the stairs or elevator up to the second floor. Career Services is located in room 216, next to the stairs and elevator.

THE NEW LAW CENTERS

THE CENTER FOR ENTREPRENEURIAL LAW

Since much of the future growth in legal jobs, both in Tennessee and across the nation appears likely to occur in a business practice, the Center for Entrepreneurial Law will allow second- and third-year students to concentrate their studies on the legal aspects of the conduct of public, private and nonprofit enterprises, emphasizing the needs of business concerns both large and small in scope. Studying under the Center umbrella will help students develop competence in the kinds of transactional matters lawyers handle daily, such as working with clients in planning and carrying out business transactions, drafting and negotiating documents, and counseling clients about compliance with laws and regulations.

The curriculum will provide a rich educational opportunity for those who choose to prepare for practice in this field. Three core courses (Introduction to Business Transactions, Contract Drafting Seminar, and Representing Enterprises) complement the required electives of Business Associations, Taxation of Entities, Land Finance Law and Commercial Law. Students who complete the requirements of the Center for Entrepreneurial Law will be acknowledged as having completed the J.D. degree with a Concentration in Business Transactions. The Center for Entrepreneurial Law has been approved by the University Graduate Council and is pending approval by the Board of Trustees.

THE CENTER FOR ADVOCACY AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Building on the College's long standing clinical programs, strong basic curriculum in trial and appellate advocacy, and successful moot court programs, the proposed Center for Advocacy will allow interested students to focus their second- and third-year experience toward preparation for a career in advocacy, commonly thought of as litigation or trial practice. Central to the development of this Center is the extensive use of advanced teaching technology that will be available in the new College of Law building, ranging from conventional and interactive video to computer-assisted instruction. This curricular concentration is expected to be available by the 1996-97 academic year pending approval by the law school faculty, the Graduate Council and the Board of Trustees of the University.
