SUBJECT: Evaluation Meeting

Now that Women's Week has concluded, I hope that you all feel a great deal of satisfaction. I believe every event was successful and that we achieved a well-rounded program that reached women on campus and in the community.

Your hard work has been invaluable to the success of these programs. So that we can ensure a quality program next year, we have scheduled an evaluation meeting for Tuesday, March 28, from 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m. in Room 216, University Center. Please come prepared to share your observations and suggestions for future celebrations of Women's Week. If you are unable to attend, we would appreciate your sending a representative or sending us your thoughts in writing prior to March 28.

Thank you for all your help.

Evaluation Comments

Display of Women in UTK History: Prepare sooner, and be flashy. The display could be more eye-catching.

Film and Panel Discussion: This was well-received. There was good student participation. The key seems to have been publicity in classes through teachers.

Spotlight on Women: Participants were Geraldine Gesell (Classics), Kathleen Lawler (Psychology), Thura Mack (Library), and Joanne Logan (Plant & Soil Science). We should try to have six exhibitors next year and have more space if exhibits involve floor-standing equipment.

We need to encourage more participation of staff, faculty, and students. Most visitors were there because one of the participants had mentioned the exhibit to colleagues with an invitation to attend. Asking faculty to announce this to classes and department heads to announce this to faculty might increase attendance. We should stress that this is an excellent way to learn what other faculty in The University are doing.

The time, one hour, seemed adequate. This is probably the period of heaviest pedestrian traffic in the University Center. One day also seems adequate. We are more likely to generate interest in one day than three.

Other faculty who were invited to exhibit but had conflicts were Sustan Metros (Art) and Susan Riechert (Zoology). Both were excited about the event and should be contacted next year.

More Commission For Women members should participate. Only one was at the Spotliht, and she was co-hosting.

Health Fair: Remove empty tables after the fair has started. Have a greeter for exhibitors and people to facilitate and troubleshoot during the entire fair. It worked well to use the Crestroom and Ballroom. Have more publicity for the exhibits. Have a cholesterol exhibit (Nutra-Sweet). Be sure that the exhibitors stay for the entire time. Shorten the hours to 11:00-2:00. Have Commission For Women members assigned specific times to participate. Create a more sophisticated Commission For Women exhibit (slide presentation, brochure).

Chancellor’s Reception: Schedule so that the Chancellor is able to attend. Be ready at least 1 1/2 hour early. Use the Hermitage Room to allow for more space. We need many more Commission For Women to host this event.

Women In Leadership Conference: Strive to attract more people and more first-timers. Perhaps offer discounts for more than one participant from one department. Include testimonials of a variety of individuals in a promotional brochure. For a more complete evaluation of this event, see Connie Conner, Chairperson.

Beacon Coverage: We worked with Jane Pope and were extremely pleased with the coverage. Continue to spotlight “unsung heroines.”

General: Advertisement needs to be detailed accurately. Reserve all rooms earlier. Get more student involvement. Involve the Lady Vols. For international involvement plan early. Mandate better participation from Commission For Women members.
